

EXERCISE SCIENCE (EXS)

EXS 665 - Research Methods & Testing in Exercise Science, 4 credits.

This course provides an overview of research methods, reviews of the evidence on the role of physical activity/exercise in the development and treatment of chronic disease and expands on exercise research and testing protocols for both healthy and special populations.

Frequency: Every Year - Second Semester

Prerequisites: DATA 608