

CONCORDIA COLLEGE TODAY

---

Concordia's current student body comes from many backgrounds and places – from 34 states and 39 countries, representing 37 religions and thought traditions. Nearly 2,000 students attend Concordia. Concordia employs 198 full-time faculty and 47 part-time faculty. The student-faculty ratio is 13:1.

Concordia ranks in the top 13% of baccalaureate institutions in the U.S. in the number of research doctorates awarded to recent graduates. Concordia graduates' acceptance rate into medical school is 91%, with 96% acceptance into law school.

Concordia College is owned by the nonprofit Concordia College Corporation, which includes congregations of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America in northern Minnesota, North Dakota and Montana.