

FAITH AND LEADERSHIP (FL)

FL 201 - Faith and Leadership, 4 credits.

This course is a study of the theory, ethics, and practice of leadership in faith-based service organizations and congregations. It considers vocational discernment, examines different religious leadership and service positions, analyzes contexts and professional standards, explores religious/denominational organizations, and considers gender, race, ethnicity and sexual orientation as factors in leadership practice. FL 201 - Faith and Leadership may count toward the religion minor. This course can also count toward the Interfaith Studies Program and the Social Activism Program.

Frequency: Not offered on a Regular Basis

Prerequisites: REL 200 (may be taken concurrently)